

INSTRUCTIONS FOR AUTHORS

Journal Metallurgical & Materials Engineering publishes:

scientific papers (up to 10 typed pages with double spacing including figures and tables), which contain the results of original investigations, presented so that the experiments can be reproduced and the analyzed and conclusions verified;

preliminary communications (up to 4 pages), which contain results the character of which requires urgent publication; do not necessarily have to contain documentation required for complete verification of the results;

review papers (up to 15 pages), which give a complete presentation and analysis of a certain field or problem on the basis of previously published material; previous consultation with the editor is required;

professional papers (up to 10 pages), not related to original investigations, useful also in the sense of extending knowledge and adapting investigations to practical needs.

The classification of the submitted paper is suggested by the author and is finally accepted by the editorial board on the basis of the referee's report.

Papers are published in English.

The manuscripts should be submitted preferably by e-mail to Technical Editor:

Marija Korać, Ph.D
Faculty of Technology and Metallurgy
Karnegijeva 4, 11120 Belgrade
Serbia
info@metalurgija.org.rs

The organization of the manuscript should be as follows:

title, which concisely denotes the contents of the paper;

first and last names of all the authors with affiliations and e-mail of corresponding author;

abstract of no more than 200 words which should concisely present the major results of the paper;

keywords 3-5 separated with commas (,);

text of a scientific or professional paper should contain a short introduction, experimental work, results, discussion and conclusion including figures and tables.

tables should be numbered consecutively with Arabic numerals. Each table should be given a descriptive caption. The tables should be planned so as their final widths do not exceed 12 cm. Tables should be embedded in the text.

figures and graphs should be numbered with Arabic numerals, have descriptive captions, and be embedded in the text. Minimum resolution of figures should be 600dpi, with maximum width of 8cm. Graphs should be prepared using appropriate program packages with axes clearly visible.

equations should be denoted by Arabic numbers in parentheses.

References in the text should be denoted by Arabic numerals in square brackets. The list of references should follow the main text and should have the following format:

reference to a journal publication:

[1] J. van der Geer, J.A.J. Hanraads, R.A. Lupton, J. Sci. Commun. 163 (2000) 51-59.

Journal Abbreviations could be found at <http://www.library.ubc.ca/scieng/coden.html>

reference to a book:

[2] W. Strunk Jr., E.B. White, The Elements of Style, third ed., Macmillan, New York, 1979.

reference to a conference publication:

[3] G.R. Mettam, L.B. Adams, In: Proceedings ISOMAT '86. Eds.: Tamura, I., Maki, T. Tokyo, The Iron and Steel Inst. of Japan 1986, p. 665.

We request that the authors, if possible, provide manuscripts prepared by the text processors Microsoft Word, which considerably accelerates the preparation time for publication.

Proofs: page proofs are sent to the designated author. They must be carefully checked and returned within 48 hours of receipt.

Publication policies: submission is a representation that the manuscript has not been published previously and is not currently under consideration for publication elsewhere. A statement transferring copyright from the authors (or their employers, if they hold the copyright) will be required before the manuscript can be accepted for publication. The Editor will supply the necessary forms for this transfer.

The quality of the manuscripts submitted for publication in the future will decide whether the journal will be indexed in the ISI database, which will further increase the interest of the international R&D community in the published articles.

Thank you for publishing in our Journal!

Sincerely yours,

Editorial Board

Belgrade, 2012